

Steve Reddy DBA Maine Sober House

This is an open letter to all the residents of Camden and Knox County. We are pleased to announce signing the closing papers on a High Street property that we are planning on turning into an eight patient alcohol treatment facility. It was wonderful to see the great reception that the other proposed treatment facility received recently. My investors and I thought that if they can open their facility without town approval, well, why shouldn't we cash in on this marvelous opportunity? As noted in a recent article in the Feb. 26th edition of Bangor Daily News page B4, we do not need town permission to open this facility as we are protected by the Federal Fair Housing Act.

Of course, our facility will only cater to those who can afford the 50-60k private payment plan, it will not probably serve many Mainers as after all the people who come here for treatment depend on privacy so as to not let anyone know that they have an illness. Plus it is important that we treat the wealthiest alcoholics so we can maximize our profit potential.

I think this will be a real plus for Camden, if all goes well I am certain we can open two or three more facilities just like the one we have planned and the proposed one on Fox Hill. Our town can be known near and far as THE place to go for a posh rehab experience.

We will be meeting with representatives from local substance abuse facilities in Bangor and Portland in order to develop a treatment program, of course we will be hiring some locals to help staff the facility.

We are excited at opening and look forward to input from concerned citizens and abutters to our property.

Yours truly,

Steve Reddy, Camden
